Political Slates Form as Democrats Pick Jan Schneier for Mayor

Long lines of eager candidates outside Borough and Township Halls, champing to serve the republic by running for public office?

No. New Jersey's deadline for filing, if you want to run, is 5 p.m. this Thursday. You have to file by that time if you want to appear on the June 3 primary ballot, to fight it out with the other stalwarts in your party who are eager to serve the republic.

In Princeton, the primary battle consists of trying to get people to run. Three of the four elements in Princeton politics announced with a sigh of relief this week that they finally made it. That's the Borough Republicans and Democrats and the Township Democrats. The Township Republicans are still struggling. Presumably they'll have their two candidates by the deadline.

It's mayoralty year in the Borough. Republican incumbent Robert W. Cawley announced some time ago that he would run for a third term. The Democrats announced this week that Jan Schneier will oppose him.

Mr. Cawley's running mates for the two Borough Council seats will be Richard C. Woodbridge, 56 William Street, Newark patent attorney who has been a Princeton resident since childhood, and John K. Bleimaier, 32 Hawthorne Avenue, economist who will receive a law degree in June, also a Princeton resident since boyhood.

Lined up in the Democratic column opposing them, are Barbara Sigmund, seeking her second term on Borough Council, and Gustav E. Escher III, director of research and development for the New Jersey Housing Finance Agency. Mrs. Sigmund lives at 8 Evelyn Place, and Mr. Escher nearby---but in another election district---at 34 Pine Street.

Robert Powell, rounding out his first term on Council, felt he couldn't run for re-election because of the heavy time demands made by a new job.

Out in the Township, as chauvinistic Borough residents like to say, Leonard Etz, 1038 Princeton-Kingston Road, will join incumbent Abbot Low Moffat on the Democratic ticket, running against

School Board Seeks McPherson's Resignation

Ten minutes of discussion were all the school board allotted Tuesday night to the highly-charged question of firing Superintendent Philip E. McPherson. Technically, the board can't fire him because he's had tenure since 1969. But the board confirmed publicly for the first time Tuesday night what has been known in private for some time: that it has unanimously asked him to resign.

A carefully drafted statement, read by board president Winthrop Pike, said that the board which took office in February, 1973—two years ago—told Dr. McPherson in the fall of '73 that it was "not satisfied with his performance, that it preferred not to reappoint him and that it would like him to look for another situation."

The board elected in February of 1974 made the same request after developing and answering "a lengthy evaluation questionnaire" on Dr. McPherson's performance. The statement doesn't say how many on each of these boards wanted Dr. McPherson to leave.

This April 8, however, the board statement says that all nine members of the board asked the superintendent to resign.

Dr. McPherson told the press that he's told the board he does not intend to resign. But neither in a lengthy statement released to press and board on Monday, nor in remarks Tuesday night, did he say flatly that he would not resign. His prepared statement simply asks the board to "provide full information to the staff and public at large about the issues of our relation."

"Loss of confidence in the superintendent is seriously impairing the proper functioning of the school system," Mr. Pike said, and asked the superintendent to re-consider his decision not to resign.

The board, so far, declines to give its reasons for opposing Dr. McPherson. "The board will not abandon its practice of not discussing personnel matters," Mr. Pike said Tuesday night.

The board is considering several lines of action, Mr. Pike said, and may act on one in the near future.

EMBATTLED: Philip E. McPherson, Princeton's superintendent of schools, is once again under fire. He has been a figure of controversy almost from the beginning of his eight years as superintendent.

Mr. Pike told the audience that filled the Community Park meeting room, that he would not allow any discussion of the McPherson matter, either from the board members or public. He allowed Dr. McPherson a comment on the board's statement, and the superintendent said further comment wouldn't be desirable.

He did say, however, that the board's statement didn't go far enough, and that board-resign. His prepared statement simply asks the board to "provide full information to the staff and superintendent—but were related to basic issues.

"Some issues are basic and appropriate for public discussion," the superintendent said, "because they concern everyone, beyond a single individual."

He told the board he hoped to continue to talk over problems with them. "I will consider with great seriousness the board's desires as I continue my work in the school system," he said.

The exchange of statement and comment, occupying only ten minutes of meeting time, was made in measured, almost courtly, tones on both sides, without the ill-concealed temper that often underlies dialogues between superintendent and board members.

No one in the audience challenged Mr. Pike's decision to forbid discussion. The board president invited audience and public to submit their comments on Dr. McPherson in writing, but it seemed clear from previous policy statements that the board would not itself, make these comments public.

A statement of support for Dr. McPherson from the Community Park staff was in the hands of the board. A similar statement of support was signed by 50 Middle School teachers, and sent to the superintendent.

In other business, the board approved a one-year continuation of the Learning Community, as incorporated into the PHS curriculum.

Highlights of the Learning Community committee's unanimous report: the L.C. should be kept for next year with three teachers; science should be dropped, leaving a core of math, English and social studies; the three L.C. teachers should also teach courses elsewhere in PHS; students in the standard PHS courses should be encouraged to join the L.C.; the L.C. staff should talk about starting courses responsive to the needs of other students in the high school; closer ties should be forged with the guidance department and the rest of the high school.

PHS Principal George Petrillo, from the audience, said he agreed with the report's recommendation.

Dr. McPherson asked whether the committee realized it had the option of deciding whether there should even be a Learning Community and board member Hannah Fox, who was liaison to the committee, reminded him it was the wish of the board that the Learning Community continue. To a question from board member J.B. Smith, she said the committee is satisfied about costs of continuing the Learning Community.

from East Windsor and Cranbury, were charged with juvenile delinquency. Police said the three, one a girl, were drinking beer. Both were released to their parents.

Three other adults and two 16-year old girls were released without charges.

Police said that known previous narcotic users and a number of teenagers had been seen by neighbors going in and out of the house.

I really got goose pimples last weekend. There I was in Princeton Battlefield, nibbling cheese and sketching that wonderful old oak tree when this cute little fellow in a lunny little hat appeared and sat on the mushroom next to mine (we mice always try to sit on mushrooms because of the dampness). He told me his name was Mercer Mouse and he lived right here in Mercer Oak, in fact his family had lived in that very same oak tree for generations.

Well, the stories he told me about the revolution and the fierce battle fought here got me feeling so patriotic and proud and goose pimply. I lost all track of time (Mrs. Mouse swears I fell asleep in the warm grass eating that wine cheddar, but I know better.)

Why don't you go down near Mercer Oak this weekend? I'm sure if you sat quietly and thought about the bicentennial, the Battle of Princeton, and what it was like to be alive then, little Mercer Mouse might appear and tell you some of his wonderful stories.

I wonder if Ann Reeves and Eric Endersbee know about this?

If you'd like to see a mouse with goose pimples, stop in at

Township's Capital Budget Includes Many Bike and Walkways; Extension of Mountain Avenue to 206 among Other Features

A 6.46-mile looping of bike and walkways is the heart of the Township's capital budget that will be discussed Monday at 8 in Township Hall at a special public meeting of Township Committee.

By holding this meeting and inviting public comment, Committee hopes to avoid the flings and arrows of last fall when an innocent preliminary capital budget was pounced on by residents as though it were a C.I.A. document.

Committee is required by state law to pass a capital budget by May 1 of each year. Members expect to pass this budget Monday night, but this doesn't mean that every item is permanently frozen.

"This is only a plan," emphasized Mayor Jay Bleiman at a press conference Tuesday. "Each item must be ordinance, and that gives people a chance to comment at public hearings."

Township residents who want to see the capital budget for 1975 and its companion "Budget year plus five" budget, extending through 1980, may pick up the budget sheets at Township Hall.

Bikeways, Walkways. Committee plans an accelerated program of bikeway and walkway building with a significant difference from similar programs in other years: construction of bike paths and walks is now totally separated from reconstruction of streets. In past capital budgets, they've gone along quite literally parallel.

Acceleration isn't due to the Princeton school board's dumping of its bus routes along hazardous streets, the mayor said, although board action was a prod.

"This is not a crash program to solve the hazardous routes problem by September," the mayor underscored.

Other projects are in the '75 capital budget, too, and projects from past budgets have been assigned to various years in the '75-'80 capital plans. For example, extension of Mountain Avenue some 600 feet to an intersection with Route 206, is down for the '76 capital budget and may well be an inherent part of parking plans for the new recreation area on the north side of Route 206.

Also in the budget is $86,000 for a Cherry Valley Road sewer. The Board of Health has found that septic systems there are pouring into the stream.

The budget also assigns $67,000 for a flood hazard study which will include the area around Riverside Drive and that was the subject of a Planning Board discussion. A whopping $600,000 for acquisition of the 94-acre Sheehan tract on The Great Road has been included, with the note that $300,000 of the sum could come from Green Acres money.

Greater Safety. To get the accelerated bike-and-walk

"These old horse-and-buggy roads with sharp curves and with houses built right next to the road, are the real problem," Mr. Moffat observed.

Traffic Signal Wanted. Bikeways are scheduled for Herrontown Road, the north side of Mercer Street, Mountain Avenue on the north side, Snowden Lane, Mt. Lucas from the Seminary's housing to Ewing and Lovers Lane. Curb cuts are down for the length of Harrison, and on Valley and Walnut. Walks would be installed in connection with the hoped-for installation of traffic signals at the Shopping Center.

path going, the budget assigns $25,000 for professional services. The money would be used for the additional surveyors needed, Mr. Moffat explained, and for related engineering work.

One of the most ambitious of the proposed walk-bikeways is one planned for Cherry Hill Road. It would extend from 700 feet north of Crestview Drive to 1,000 feet south. It is, in the view of Committee member Abbot Low Moffat, "the worst section of road in town, from the point of view of safety."

Engineering plans haven't been completely worked out yet, but the idea is to widen one side of the road slightly—five to seven feet—and then lay down a pair of 11½-foot lanes, plus a bikeway. The bike route could be separated from the road perhaps by rubber posts—which would protect cyclists from severe injury in the event of a fall—or by being built up like a walk.

The bikeway would be on the right-hand side of the road going uphill. Cyclists going uphill would be on the same side as uphill cars. Downhill cars, presumably going at a faster clip, would be on the opposite side of the road from the bikeway.

Political Slates

whoever the Republicans can get into the field.

Mr. Etz is a lawyer, practicing in Princeton, and specializing in municipal codes. He is vice-chairman of the citizens' committee that has been examining consolidation of Borough and Township governments.

Mr. Moffat, 2 Pheasant Hill Road, served in the New York State Legislature and in the State Department in Washington before retiring and moving to Princeton. This will be his 14th campaign for public office.

Background. The mayoralty race has some historic interest. When Mr. Cawley ran for the first time in 1969, he also had a woman opponent: Democrat Alice Male. When he ran again in 1971, (the law now allows a four-year term) he ran against Ms. Schneier's former husband, Ned Schneier. (And also against Democrat Marie Coan, who decided to split the Democrats that year by running as an independent.)

Jan Schneier has been active in Democratic politics for many years and is Borough municipal chairman of the Mercer County Democratic Committee. In a political dust-up this January, zoning law expert Norman Williams was ousted from the Borough Zoning Board and she was appointed to fill his seat. She had been campaign chairman for the victorious Democrats, who now hold all six Council seats.

Ms. Schneier is shrewd and experienced in politics and she will not say so openly, but it is a known fact around the Borough that she is running for mayor because nobody else would. Republican Cawley has no primary opposition, only a party grateful that he's willing to go through it again.

The job pays $1,000 a year.
Council members get $750. In the munificent Township, the mayor gets $3,000 and Committee members $1,000.

In return, you give up almost all your week nights—
a Township Committee member recalls a recent three-week stretch with four nights of meetings each week—and probably live uneasily with the feeling you're not doing a full job if you can't take time off now and then during the day.

If you're a commuter, home at 7 p.m. and facing an 8 p.m. meeting, it's almost impossible. The only long-distance commuter now serving is Council's Martin P.
Lumbardo, who works in New York. William Sutphin, Township Committee member who isn't running for re-election, used to commute to Newark before he opened a law office here.

No Job for the Young. Low pay and long hours tend to exclude the young. If you're 28 and building a career, you feel you must devote all your time and energies to that career.

When a Township Committee member decided Committee would be strengthened by the addition of an engineer, he found that the good, bright engineers always gave a reluctant "no" when he asked them to run for office. Too risky to slack off in a competitive field.

Also, many young people are on the low rungs of the corporate ladder, and not allowed the kind of time off that older executives can take—and often are encouraged to take.

Mayor Cawley is a top executive at nearby Western Electric, a company which encourages its executives to go into politics and gives them time to work at it. The mayor's predecessor, Henry S. Patterson, was also a top executive with relatively free time to give the Borough Township mayor Jay

In Late April, Too

"Breeze" Rhymes
All too well
With
"Freeze"

Long-range forecasts of late March to the contrary, April temperatures have by no means been running above normal for the month. It is sure to show a deficit by the time it ends next Wednesday.

A milder trend is in store as the weekend approaches, but showers are in the picture, too.
Like about Friday, the Man estimates.

Bleiman has the flexible schedule characteristic of University staff. His predecessors, John D.
Wallace and James Floyd, were also executives who worked close to Princeton and could arrange their time.

Not a Stepping Stone. Even for the young who are politically ambitious, Council and Committee haven't much to offer. Nobody has ever gone from local Princeton politics to the White House, or even to "Morven" and the Mercer County Court House, although in recent years a few office holders in both parties have seemed to be looking toward more distant horizons.

Within the field that remains—women who do not have full-time jobs, men and women who work nearby, men and women who are self-employed and can take whatever time they wish, men who have retired—there is, of course, a wealth of talent, intelligence, energy and devotion to the town.

Incidentally, although the University might seem a prime source of talent, there is a limitation here. A University staff member on any municipal body often doesn't vote because of conflict of interest. The Township's mayor, Jay Bleiman, has abstained from the vote on both Committee and Planning Board because of his affiliation with the University.

So, more and more thoughtful residents, and Jan Schneier is among them, are asking how much longer this 19th-century volunteerism can go on. Would people be more willing to run for office and take three years out of a career, if they were paid enough? What would
"enough" be...$10,000 a year for a full-time Council job?

That's roughly the range
Ms. Schneier is thinking about. Mr. Moffat suggests that re-organized government—he shies away from saying "consolidated,"— could rely more on professionals to do the work.

assisted by an elected body of paid officials.

Would payment for service
open the door to corruption, to office-seekers strictly out for the buck? Mr. Moffat and Ms.
Schneier don't think so: there wouldn't be that much money involved, and the screening committees of both Republican and Democratic parties could screen out the hungry office-seeker.

As it is now, both parties only wish they had more people to screen.

All the bike paths and walkways are taken from the sidewalk and bikepath master plans of 1969-70 and none are new, the mayor emphasized. The capital budget plans simply move them all in higher gear.

"We're accelerating because of the energy crisis, and because we want to make roads safe for walkers and cyclists not just for cars," the mayor said, and Mr. Moffat added cheerfully that the state of the economy was a factor, too.

"Prices have tumbled," he said, "they went down 43 percent in the four months between September and January."

Economy Factor. He would like to pool many of these projects because he believes it would be cheaper that way in the long run. He would like to bond the walks over a 15-year period in a big package, instead of going the usual route of a project bonded every five years or so. He thinks it would be less painful for taxpayers.

The gross cost, with no Federal or state aid, is estimated at $360,000. With Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (Federal) money estimated at $74,900, the net cost would be $285,000.

Mr. Moffat repeatedly emphasized that cost estimates are deliberately high. It's pleasanter to come down, than to have to go up.

It will be at least September of this year before construction on any of the walks can start, in the mayor's estimate.

two desks had been opened. She lost her tan pocketbook containing $3.50 and credit cards.

Her wallet was later found by university security in a men's room minus the money but her pocketbook is still missing. A room on the fourth floor was entered in the same manner but nothing was taken.

In the Borough, a Blawenburg woman parked her car Thursday in front of 231 John Street. Taken between 5:25 and 6:15 p.m. was her blue leather purse containing $2-$3 and a book of blank checks which she had left on the front seat.

There was no forced entry. She told police that she had seen a large group of teenagers near the car.

VARIOUS ITEMS STOLEN
From Borough Home. Three stereo speakers valued at $170, a $50 radio and a total of ten bottles of scotch, whiskey, gin and vodka valued at $122 were stolen last week from a home in the northeast section of the Borough.

The entry occurred between 7:10 Friday evening and 12:44 Saturday morning but police say they have not yet determined how

DRIVER HOSPITALIZED

When Forced Off Road. Mrs. Andrew F. Phelan of 1 Pine Knoll Drive, Lawrence Township, was hospitalized Monday after a car forced her off Route 206 into some trees.

According to Ptl. William Potts, who is investigating, Mrs. Phelan was driving near Bruer's Hill when another car, coming in the opposite direction, appeared in her lane. She swerved to the right and lost control of her car.

Taken to Princeton Medical Center by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, she was admitted to the intensive care unit for treatment of possible internal injuries and multiple contusions. The accident occurred at 3:38 p.m.

An hour later at 4:44, two cars collided at the intersection of Walnut Lane and Guyot Drive.

Robert M. Petrie, 22, of Trenton, told police that he was unfamiliar with the area and did not see the stop sign at the foot of Guyot. He struck a car driven by Catherine L. Madden, 44, 155 Bertrand Drive.

Mrs. Madden and her daughter, Lisa, complained of head pains and were treated at the Medical Center. Mr. Petrie was ticketed for failing to stop.

ANTIQUES MISSING

From Great Road Home. Karl H. Behr Jr. of The Great Road told Township police last week that two antiques valued at $1300 were apparently taken during his absence for a few months from his home.

Missing are a brass carriage clock in a wooden case ($800) and an antique fruitwood tea caddy. There were no signs of forced entry.

Elizabeth T. Davis, an employee in the Jadwin Building on the university campus, told police that she left her office, Room 395, for about an hour Friday and when she returned at noon she noticed all the drawers in the

A second floor window pane above a porch was used to enter the Princeton Gourmet Shop, 344 Nassau Street, between 6 Thursday evening and the following morning. The only thing taken, police said, was a piece of cheese and a package of cashew nuts.

Which Way to University Place? Borough police also report an unusual entry Friday night in a home in the southwest section.

According to police, the owners of the house and their 20-year old son went to sleep around 10. At 11:20, the son woke up to find a man in his room and another in the hall. When asked what he was doing there, the intruder, police said, requested directions to University Place.

The parents then awoke and after a brief exchange of words, the two men left.

Suspicious, the parents called police. A search revealed that a white wallet containing $50 had been taken from the first floor.

Apparently the thieves entered through a kitchen window which police found unlocked. The owners were shown police photos at police headquarters but were unable to identify anyone.

DECISION DUE

On Restaurant Application. The Borough Zoning Board is scheduled to reach a decision Thursday in the application of Robert Poitras of Belle Mead to build a 232-seat restaurant at 138 Nassau Street.

The two-story building is presently owned by David Burroughs who has operated the Princeton Recreation Bowling Lanes there since 1959. Mr. Poitras proposes locating his restaurant on the second floor and adding a row of retail shops on the first. He needs a waiver of 34 off-street parking spaces before he can proceed.

Plainsboro Defers Action

The Plainsboro Planning Board Monday night closed the hearing on Princeton University's proposed Forrester development without taking action on the project. It is expected that the board will act at its next public meeting May 19.

John Sully, for the Middlesex County Planning Board, told the Plainsboro planners that his board "doesn't have any tremendous objections" to the project. Princeton University plans to develop a 1,604-acre plot with 600 townhouses and apartments and a 600-room hotel and about 200 acres of office space.

The board heard the application last month and invited Mr. Poitras and his attorney, Gordon C. Straus, to come back with additional data on public parking and the possibility of revised plans showing fewer restaurant seats.

At the same time, the engineering department was asked by the board to conduct a survey of available municipal off-street parking before making a decision. Three public lots including Tulane West, Witherspoon (next to the library) and Park Place West are within 400 feet of the building.

A New York City businessman, Mr. Poitras last month told the board that he has been looking for a site for a restaurant-retail complex for a number of years. He assured the board that it would be a restaurant of the highest type quality.

In another application which the board will hear in Borough Hall, the Sun Oil Company will seek a use variance to sell bicycles at its newly-reopened Sunoco Station, 273 Nassau Street. In its application, it informed the board that it sold 7,000 bikes last year in more than 100 Sunoco Stations without any accidents involving a bicycle and car on site.

The applicant needs a variance for two reasons. While the ordinance permits service stations in certain areas, it limits any retail sales to materials necessary or convenient for the operation of motor vehicles.

Secondly, the lot is divided. The rear and main portion on which the service building rests is located in a residential zone. Only the front part is located in a servis-business zone which permits service stations.

Peter Hodge, 40 Vandeventer, will present a two-part application before the board concerning property he owns at 32 Vandeventer. The building presently houses four apartments. Zoning records list it as a two-family dwelling in an R4 zone. It never received zoning board approval for conversion to apartment use. Mr. Hodge is asking for such authorization.

Recently, the Borough zoning officer ruled that a barn-type structure on the rear of the property, which at one time had been used for storage of business materials, had vacated its non-conforming use. The building has not been used since 1958, according to zoning records.

Mr. Hodge is asking the board to overturn the zoning officer's ruling and allow him to rent the barn as storage to someone conducting a business off premises.

READY TO PLAY?

Recreation Area Approved. No detailed sketches of picnic tables yet, but the $330,000 bond ordinance for improving the north side of Community Park was approved unanimously Monday night by Township Committee.

When working drawings have been finished and the area, which is across Route 206 from the present Community Park, has been planned in final form, public hearings will be held and citizens can approve or protest.

One protest already: Arthur Mendel, 232 Bayard Lane, said the road exiting from the parking lot points right at his house. Henry J. Frank, chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee, joined Mr. Mendel in complaint about the parking lot's entrance and exit.

Mayor Jay Bleiman said the proposed 1976 extension of Mountain Avenue straight through to Route 206 might solve the problem.

Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation money will pay $162,300 of the $330,000 and Borough and Township will divide the rest: the Borough paying one-third, the Township two-thirds.

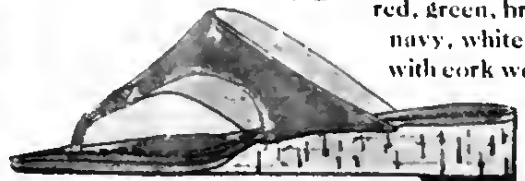

Parents queried Committee about the fate of hazardous school bus routes dropped by the school board as an economy measure. Stephen Adler, 9 Veblen Circle, off Mercer, protested that six-year-olds could not walk the distance from Veblen to Johnson Park School on Rosedale Road.

He suggested possible legal action by Committee against the school board, or re-institution of the routes in the school budget, which is now under consideration by Princeton's two municipal governing bodies.

Mayor Bleiman reminded parents that the school board is within the law in dropping the routes. He said the Township would like to continue the routes one year and pick up the marginal cost, but does not have figures showing how much busing costs with these routes, and how much without them.

"Discontinuing those routes was precipitous and ill-considered on the part of the school board," declared Committee member William Sutphin, "I see no commensurate reduction in the school budget."

When Mr. Sutphin said he preferred building bike and sidewalks to paying for the buses, Mr. Adler commented that walks didn't solve the problem for children under fourth-grade age, who would have to walk about two miles to school.

"We're not going to duck the problem," the mayor assured, "We'll resolve it shortly but we want to know the real cost."

There will be no general solicitation this year, but donors may call Mrs. Eugene Haring, 921-2381; Mrs. Peter Groff, 924-7435; Mrs. James Love, 924-3576; or Mrs. Francis Bushnell, 466-2036. All donations are tax deductible, and members of the auction committee will clean or polish pieces if needed.

Virtually everything goes at the Fete Auction; silver of all kinds, glassware, good china, both antique and modern, and even vintage kitchenware such as casserole dishes or copper pans is eminently auctionable, as are large appliances, television sets and stereo components. Furniture is always welcome, period pieces and those which are plain but practical. Quilts or bedspreads, curtains in good condition, rugs in all sizes and fine linens are also much in demand.

Paintings or prints, old frames, mirrors or screens are popular. Outdoor furniture and garden equipment are needed at this time of year, including garden statues, birdbaths and terrace ornaments. Swings and slides or other playthings that one family has outgrown will be just what another is looking for. Sports equipment, even a canoe or trailer-size small boat, is acceptable. If anyone has something really unusual, such as the retired London taxicab which appeared one year, the committee will be glad to come and see it. No live pets can be accepted, no matter how lovable.

The public is invited to the Pre-sale exhibition on Friday, May 30, from 12 to 6 and on Saturday, May 31, from 8 to 9 a.m., when sealed bids may be left on anything the buyer is interested in. Lester and Robert Slatoff will conduct the Auction.

TWO NAMED TRUSTEES
Of Wilson Foundation. Hans Rosenhaupt, President of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, has announced the election of two Princeton residents to the board of trustees.

The new members, who have been elected for three-year terms, are Alvin B. Kernan, Dean of the Graduate School at Princeton University, and Nancy J. Weiss, Associate Professor of History at Princeton. Dean Kernan, who is a Professor of English and the author of "The Plot of Satire" and "The Cankered Muse," was acting-provost at Yale University until 1973, when he became graduate school dean at Princeton. Prof. Weiss was a Woodrow Wilson Fellow, received her Ph.D. from Harvard, and has been teaching at Princeton since 1969. She is chairman of the Committee on the Status of Women in the Historical Profession, and served on the selection committees in 1974 and 1975 for the Foundation's Doctoral Dissertation Fellowships in Women's Studies.

Nancy J. Weiss

Alvin B. Kernan

Other Princeton area trustees are Frank E. Taplin, now Vice-Chairman of the Board, Mrs. Robert D. Beilman and Mrs. Mary I. Bunting.

NEW COURSES OFFERED
By Red Cross in Water Safety. The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will offer a Water Safety Instructors' course at the Hightstown YMCA pool from April 29-June 10, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7-10. All candidates must have excellent swimming skills, a current senior or advanced lifesaving certification and be at least 17 years old.

Those who finish the 30-hour course successfully will be qualified to teach all levels of Red Cross swimming instruction from Beginners' through Advanced Lifesaving. In addition, those with Senior Lifesaving certification will be updated to the new Advanced Lifesaving. Register by calling the Red Cross, 924-2404.

The Red Cross has also announced a revision of its Water Safety programs. All current Water Safety Instructors must be updated in the new materials by December, 1976.

The Princeton Chapter is now accepting registration for its third Update course, which runs 12 hours, Thursday evening May 1-May 22 from 7-10 at the Hightstown YMCA pool.

All candidates must have current WSI certification. Call the Red Cross for further information and registration.

CLASSES SCHEDULED
For the Hard of Hearing. Sufferers of hearing loss in the Princeton area will benefit from speechreading classes to be held at Merwick, the Extended Care and Rehabilitation Unit of The Princeton Medical Center.

Miss Elin Gursky, speech and hearing therapist, has announced that speechreading classes at the beginning, intermediate and advanced levels will begin Monday.

Speechreading courses will meet weekly for ten weeks. Sessions are one and a-half hours long. Miss Gursky recommended the beginning course to those who never studied speechreading or who need a refresher course in basic techniques. Beginners learn the recognition of lip postures, facial and non-verbal clues, and the speechreading of everyday phrases. Intermediate and advanced students focus on more intensive work in conversation and situational speechreading.

Those wishing further information about speechreading, including class schedules, should call the Communication Disorders Unit at 921-7700, extension 227, between 8:30 and 5.

OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY

cars at the Valley Road School Building from 10 a.m. until 3:30 Saturday for $1 per car. The money earned will go into the eighth grade fund for a Washington trip.

When the class originally planned their trip to Washington early in the year, the money was all in hand. But inflation affects everyone, and with rising prices for lodging, food, tours, etc., buying power dwindled. The youngsters earned money with the usual neighborhood jobs—babysitting and yard work—but the need remained for one big fund-raising project.

So with the help of a few parent volunteers, and teachers who are making coffee to sell to waiting customers, the class planned this Saturday's car wash.

The suspect allegedly came up behind the woman and struck up a conversation with her as she walked on Nassau Street around 6:30. She refused his invitation to go to a party but allegedly asked him for money for a cup of coffee.

After leaving PJ's Pancake House, she followed her to Moore Street and became angry, police said, when she continued to refuse his advances. He allegedly grabbed her by the throat and threatened her with a knife.

An organizational meeting of the Adult Slow Pitch Softball League will be held on Wednesday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation Office, Room 211, Valley Road School. Those interested in having a team in the league this year, should have a representative at the meeting.

Andre Eichenberger, getting last season's form back, lost only one game in winning 6-1, 6-0, and freshman Allen Aronovic won almost as easily, 6-1, 6-1.

In doubles play, Steve Ebersole and Malcolm Benjamin won 7-5, 6-1, and Dan Amarel and David Bowen triumphed, 6-1, 6-1. PHS is now 2-1.

PHS IS EDGED, 7-6
By Livingston Stickmen. In its closest game of the season Monday, the Princeton High School lacrosse team (2-3) dropped a close 7-6 decision to visiting Livingston.

Livingston jumped to a 2-0 lead and PHS spend the rest of the afternoon trying to catch up. "We kept coming back but we just couldn't close it," said PHS coach Bill Cirullo. From a 5-3 half, the score went 6-3, 6-4, 7-4, 7-5, 7-6.

Mace and Morgan Mohrman paced the Little Tigers' attack. Mace scoring twice while Morgan added a goal and an assist. "Morgan played a good game; he had a beautiful assist to his brother right in front of the goal," said Cirullo. John Leshner and Alex Wert also scored for PHS.

"Livingston," commented Cirullo, "did a good job of riding us. We had a tough time clearing the ball. We didn't have the ball that much in the attack zone."

PDS NINE WINS FIRST
Delbarton Here Friday. Princeton Day School captured that all-important first win last week as Glenn Russo fashioned a two-hitter for a 6-1 victory over Blair Academy but then the Panthers stumbled again and fell to crosstown rival Hun, 11-2, on Friday.

Coach Tom DeVito's Panthers will play host to Delbarton School Friday at 3:30, oppose Wardlaw Wednesday and were scheduled to travel to Montclair Academy this Wednesday. Commenting on the first two coming up—Montclair and Delbarton—DeVito said: "If we can win two, we'll be 3-3 before we go into the tough part of our schedule."

Russo walked five in the Blair win but was backed by three double plays, all initiated by second baseman Gary Salup, and 13 Panther hits, two by Russo himself, including a double. Also banging out a pair of hits were Bill Baggett, Scott Ware, John Hickley and Frank Konstantynowicz.

The Panthers might have had more but four of their runners were thrown out at the plate.

Five costly errors, and "a lot of little things that put us down," said DeVito more than offset PDS's eight hits against Hun. Although he observed that "we didn't swing our bats as good as we could", DeVito pointed out the game was still within reach until Hun erupted for five runs in the last inning.

Ware doubled home PDS's only two runs in the fourth after Brad Marcus and Konstantynowicz had singled. He was out trying to stretch it into a triple—one of those little things DeVito spoke of. "You can't teach mental toughness," he said.

ERRORS PLAGUE PHS
As Ewing Wins, 8-3. Nine Princeton High errors, four by Eddie Volz, were all the unexpected aid visiting Ewing needed Tuesday to defeat the Little Tigers, who have now lost six in a row. Pete Watson (0-3) was the losing pitcher in the 8-3 contest.

Larry Howell tripled home Princeton's first run in the fourth and PHS added two more in the fifth—the only hit Scott Thompson's single. Thompson had two hits and Paul Soderman one to account for all four yielded by winning pitcher Frank Chiacchio. Ewing won its third in eight starts.

BASKETBALL CLASSIC SET
For Friday in Dillon Gym. For the last three years, the Joint Effort Basketball Classic has attracted some of the most talented performers in the state. This year is no exception. The Third Annual Joint Effort Basketball Classic boasts two All-Americans, four All-State stars, two prep school All-State performers and two All-Mercer County players.

Among them will be Bob Roma (Christian Brothers Academy), Blake Taylor (Perry Amhoy High), Eric Williams (Newark Academy), Kevin King (Lakewood High), Mike Keys (Trenton High), and Vernon Melville (Trenton High). Roland Alexander, Daryl Marshall and Randy Bullock, all from Princeton High School, will also be in uniform for the New Jersey all-star squad which will oppose a similar team from New York City Friday night at 8 at Dillon Gym.

There will be two preliminary games which involve Princeton youths who have been participating in a winter basketball program sponsored by Joint Effort. They will start at 6 and at 7. Several civic, community and educational leaders who have contributed significantly to "Youth Development" will be cited for their efforts.

Admission to the games will be $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12. Proceeds will benefit Joint Effort Sports Foundation.

Curved beamed cathedral ceilings; imported chandeliers, built-in clock inlaid with nine different woods, wide bow window with tiled sink for plant display; pegged and brick floors—these are some of the aesthetic touches. Big modern kitchen, huge basement rec room and second kitchen, 3 baths, freezer room, 4 fireplaces, innumerable closets and cabinets for storage, logs and kindling, wine cellar, fire sprinklers—these are some of the comforts and conveniences. Nearly 19 pastoral acres, entered by a tree and forsythia lined drive, include a pond, heated swimming pool, 3 room and bath guest house, barn, tool house, root cellar, woodland, gorgeous old trees and lovely natural landscaping. ## Nassau Street to Become "A Living Museum" On May 3 to Signal Start of Bicentennial Here

Park your pony cart over there (diagonally, if you please) next to the Pierce-Arrow. I understand the Witherspooners are about to sing again and I want to catch some of that great old popular music, so I'm leaving my sleigh right here. Besides, it's so hard to maneuver a sleigh on May 3.....

May 3, it is. The Saturday that marks the start of Princeton's Bicentennial celebrations, the opening of "Nassau Street: A Living Museum." And --needless to say --a SUNNY day.

Bells from church steeples will ring in the day at noon sharp, and the genial celebration will continue until 4:45. Parking will be free from noon on, meters covered by paperbag puppets. You'll have to move your car by 11:45, so don't come uptown at 10:30 and put in two-hour's worth of parking money.

Nassau will be closed to traffic from Moore to University Place. Feeder streets will be closed part way: Chambers closed from Nassau to Hurlish; Witherspoon closed from Nassau to Spring; Palmer Square closed from Nassau to Clayton's on each side of the tiger; John, South Tulane and Lincoln Court, all closed.

Displays to Continue. Stroll the traffic-free street and look in shop windows. Displays will be on view for ten days, but it'll be more fun to see them the very first day. Princeton's history, as far back as 1931, 1776, 1839 or 1958. Political campaign buttons, costumes from a party of 50 years ago, folk music, folk dancing .... "Morven," the governor's mansion of New Jersey, will be included in the festivities, and the Princeton Ballet Society will perform a stately Grand Ball in front of the mansion

LADY OF THE DAY: Anne Reeves, president of the Arts Council of Princeton, is chairman of "Nassau Street: A Living Museum." That's Saturday, May 3, on your spring calendar.

Make a Puppet?

Take your crayons or magic-marker and make a puppet out of a paperbag mother brought from the store. It's needed to put on top of a parking-meter on Saturday, May 3, to make sure nobody parks there. Take your paperbag puppet to the children's department of the Princeton Public Library by Thursday, May 1.

Artists, young or a little older, now have until next Monday to register for display of photographs, graphics or paintings. Registration should be made at the Chamber of Commerce, 44 Nassau.

Governor Brendan Byrne himself and Mrs. Byrne, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, Township Mayor Jay Bleiman and Princeton University President William G. Bowen will be at "Morven" to greet you and wish you "Happy Bicentennial!"

Inside the mansion, you can examine the commemorative Princeton Bicentennial portfolio of graphic art, sponsored by Princeton Bank and Trust. It will be on view for the first time.

Shades of Fellini. The Arts Council of Princeton, sponsor of "the day," is already chuckling over "George Washington Amarcord," a frisky little spoof written for Street Theatre by Jessica Krause, a senior at Princeton High. "What," she asks, "would a Founding Father find on Nassau Street today?"

What are you going to wear? Not those old jeans again. Dress the way you did in 1962 or even, if you're old enough, 1952. There will be a promenade with awards and ribbons, for "prettiest" and maybe even "most historic", whatever THAT may mean. In any case, be sure to dress up. (They're thinking of calling the Promenade "The March of Time," which it certainly is.)

On your stroll along Nassau Street, drop in at Bainbridge House, headquarters of the Historical Society of Princeton, and learn how you can document the antiquity of your historic home. If you live in an historic 1954 split-level, you may be on your own. But your house will be the antiquity of the Tricentennial, and people of 2076 will exclaim over your antique vinyl tile.

Do you know why the street you live on is called what it is? "Hamilton" was more than an Avenue. Alexander, perhaps? And who was Olden that he got two streets named after him?

Memorabilia. During the day, a Princeton People's Quilt will be growing. Take to it a favorite Princeton memento: a baby bracelet from the Medical Center, a report card from the old Valley Road School. Sew it into the quilt and it will become a permanent part of Princeton.

A commemorative quilt, now being made at the YWCA, will depict Princeton's past. It will be in the First National Bank window.

"It will be a 'Beginning Day,'" says Anne Reeves, Arts Council president and chairman of the Day. "We hope to start, that day, a history of Princeton by children, for children, and we've invited to be our guest John W. Warner, of the American Revolution Bicentennial group, because we think Nassau Street: A Living Museum is a good pilot project, an inexpensive way to celebrate, which other towns could copy."

Yes, you're asked to dress up. Because Nassau Street will be dressed up, too. That newly-dug flower bed at the Nassau and Palmer Square curb, will be filled with flowers. Hanging baskets, if logistics can be worked out, will sway with gentle color around Palmer Square.

Crafts, for demonstration only and not for buying and selling, will reflect the two-hundred-year span from 1776. A farrier will show how to shoe

BUT DOES IT COOK? "Zucchini" Sings, Dances. The "American Zucchini," say Triangle's publicity writers, can sing, dance, and hypnotize an audience into "an evening of laughter and amusement."

Find out the weekend of May 1, 2, 3 and 4 when Princeton University's Triangle Club presents its 86th annual musical. It's "American Zucchini" this year and you will be allowed to buy a ticket at the McCarter Theatre box-office.

Dance director Goss says that teaching zucchini to dance presented one of the most unusual challenges of his long career. "I've been pleasantly surprised at how well they pick up the steps," he is reported to have said.

Audiences can judge in the "You Are There" number, sponsored (says Triangle) by "a well-known manufacturer of writing implements, in which fine-point bananas dance through the Battle of Gettysburg and several thicknesses of plywood to prove conclusively that for anything, anytime, there's a first time, everytime."

Well. The tiger around town, promoting the show, has even been talking with University President William G. Bowen, who has reportedly promised to attend "American Zucchini" himself.

PILOBOLUS BACK With Mime, Gymnastics. The Pilobolus dancers blend mime, dance and gymnastics in a way critics have described as almost sculptural. They will appear in McCarter Theatre Tuesday, May 6, at 8 p.m. for their third presentation in Princeton.

Pilobolus was formed in 1971 by four Dartmouth students, all with athletic backgrounds, who met in a modern dance class. The group added two women to its original quartet of men and now has six dancers. Three of the original founders are still in the group. The two women now with Pilobolus, were former members of the dance faculty at Dartmouth.

All six members of Pilobolus create the choreography, all six live together on a collective farm in Vermont.

MUSICAL ACTION "Once Upon a Mattress." The Hun School will present the musical comedy, "Once Upon a Mattress," Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 1, 2 and 3, at 8 in the school auditorium.

The story is based on the fairy tale, The Princess and The Pea, with music by Mary Rodgers, daughter of the famous composer. In the Broadway and television performances, Carol Burnett starred as Princess Winnifred the Woebegone.

The cast of 30 will be directed by Gregory Goida, with Elizabeth Goida the musical director. Cast includes Ken Baggaley as the minstrel, Jeff Olson as the wizard, Rhonda Click as Lady Larken, Kim Enders as the talkative Queen Aggravain, Dave Eisenstein as Prince Dauntless, Joe McCauley as the mute King Sextimus, Steve VeShancey as the Jester, Dennis Warwick as Sir Harry, and Susan Fulton as Princess Winnifred.

—more dialogue—
Q In previous weeks, we have discussed the history of the Inn, the rooms, the food service and the Peacock Alley Bar. What else is new?
A. the new cocktail bar on the lower level of the Inn, across from the dining rooms. Built last summer and opened in September, the new bar enhances the dining experience.
Q In what way?
A. Aside from providing a service bar for the dining room, those who wish may sit in the new area for a pleasant preliminary, or come in after dinner for a cognac or whatever.
Q Beside the lunch and dinner clientele what kind of bar is it? Is it stuffy and formal, loud and noisy, dull or cheerful?
A. After 5, it's a pleasantly noisy group enjoying the cocktail hour. In late evening, it's couples; or those unwinding from travel; or just people who like a quiet subdued atmosphere.
Q Is there really a dress requirement?
A. No, but well dressed people will not feel uncomfortable as they may in some other area cocktail bars.

Merry Mood of Intime's "Chalk Circle" Assures A Delightful Evening of Theatre
In "Mother Courage" Bertolt Brecht wrote a drama about a long and difficult journey. In "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," now playing at Murray Theatre under the aegis of Theatre Intime, Brecht tells the story of another difficult journey. But where "Mother Courage" is serious, even tragic, the mood of "Chalk Circle" is playful. It has serious things to say—about war, about princes, religious men, lawyers, judges and policemen, and other topics—but its criticism is mainly merry. On the Murray stage, author and actors combine to create a delightful evening in the theatre.
A group of countryfolk on a collective farm in the Caucasus, torn over the ownership of a fertile valley, recreate with the help of a storyteller an ancient legend telling how justice was done in a celebrated case. An armed revolt has cost the governor his life and caused his wife to flee, taking along her best clothes but leaving her infant son behind. A kitchen maid, Grusha, takes the baby and cares for him through perils of the road. For the child's sake she even contracts a marriage with a dying man, who inconveniently recovers.
Problems mount. Grusha's troubles multiply when the soldier whom she loves returns from the war. The climax is reached in a trial before the village rascal, Azdak, whom the soldiers have named to replace the former judge, seen hanging by his neck in the background. The governor's wife reclaims her child. Grusha will not give him up. Azdak decrees the test of the chalk circle: whichever woman can pull the child out of a circle chalked on the ground is the true mother. The intricacies of Azdak's justice are not quite over yet: when all has been straightened out, it is no wonder that, in the words of the storyteller, "The people of Grusinia long remembered the period of his judging as a brief golden age."
Story a Delight. The good humor of the acting and the simplicity of the staging make the story what it is meant to be, a delight. With brooms for lances, a ladder for a mountain pass, swaying bodies for a dangerous bridge, the peasants sit around on the floor until it is their turn to assume a character. Songs interlard the action, abetted by original music (by Dennis Davenport) on an electric piano. The program gives special thanks to Geulah Abrahams as "movement consultant" — well deserved, for the choreographing of bodies to represent now a palace, then a fortress, a guillotine, a bridge, a windstorm and a snowstorm is most effective.

Almost all of the cast play from three to five different roles, making it hard and perhaps unfair to single out individuals for comment. Steven Reisner's shrewdly snotty Azdak, however, gives substance to the whole second half of the play.
Lisa Hahn is appealingly sincere as Grusha. Her meeting with the returning soldier, Simon Shashava (Robert Cohen), is genuinely moving. I always enjoy Kimberly Myers, not least as the tart mother-in-law in one of the play's funniest scenes, the wedding of Grusha and Jussup. And there is a captivating appearance by tiny Jeremiah Nathan as the two-year old Michael, center of contention in the chalk circle.
Audience Appreciation. Chief credit must of course go to Katherine Mendeloff, the director, who has woven music, acting, movement and stage effects into a happily conceived whole. Thanks in great measure to her, the opening night audience called the actors back for three curtain calls before they stopped applauding.
"The Caucasian Chalk Circle" will continue its run this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8:00 p.m.
(P.S. Dear Theatre Intime: Why do you persist in not putting dates in your programs? Historians of the future will not bless you for it.)

PLAYHOUSE

The Reincarnation of Peter Proud. Based on the best selling novel by Max Erlich, this suspenseful exploration portrays a man's obsessive search for a prior existence.

Michael Sarrazin is a young college professor who comes to believe he has lived a prior existence. He encounters those whom he believes has lived with and loved in his previous life and is a tormented man until he finds the answers to his search. Beautiful Jennifer O'Neill co-stars.

GARDEN

Emmanuelle. Columbia's first "X" is a soft-core French fantasy about a young wife's search for sexual fulfillment. A record-breaker in France, Emmanuelle is tame and dull stuff by U.S. standards.

It is based on a 1957 novel by Emmanuelle Arsan (a pseudonym) which was banned by DeGaulle in 1963 but still enjoys a considerable underground reputation. The film, reputedly the story of a young French wife living in Bangkok with her diplomat husband, paints a landscape—it is always lovely to look at—of bored, decadent expatriates who seem to have nothing to do but dabble in each other's flesh. Essentially, it boils down to a series of sensual explorations by 19-year old Sylvia Kristel whose husband wants her to experience the ultimate in sexual fulfillment. Since he is rarely around, Sylvia spends her days by the swimming pool with other diplomats' wives who perpetually talk about their sexual dalliances, covetously eye each other's bodies and periodically pair off out of sheer boredom.

Unfortunately, the utter boredom of diplomatic life also carries over into the characters on the screen, none of whom seem to think or talk about anything but sex. Motivation? There isn't any. The film is chock full of prettily photographed nudity (all female), and a tame assortment of soft-core couplings...which along with the novel's reputation probably accounts for its popularity in Paris. Here in this country the film is benefiting from a canny ad campaign. But titillating? It's dull, dull, dull.

NURSERY TO BENEFIT
From Chamber Music Festival. A Spring Festival of Chamber Music III, to benefit the University-NOW Day Nursery and the University League Nursery School, will be held Tuesday at 8:30 in Alexander Hall.

The University "preschool centers" have combined their fund raising efforts this year to bring the community a program designed for both experienced and tentative chamber music lovers. It has wide and wild variety, works of quality and musical ability and promises to be entertaining.

Many area performers will be featured, including the Millstone trio-Jayn Rosenfeld, flutist and a U-NOW parent; Randolph Haviland, bassoon player and Phyllis Lehrer on piano—a highly active chamber music trio of Central New Jersey, all the members of which teach in the Westminster Choir College Preparatory Division; Judith Nicosia, soprano and voice teacher who recently sang Lucretia in the Rape of Lucretia; Steve Owen, public school teacher and bass soloist; Renee Weiss, violinist and editor of the Quarterly Review of Literature; William Browder, flute player, and member of the university faculty.

Highlights of the program include Telemann Quartet in D. Minor for 3 solo instruments, Ibert Deux Steles Orientees, Bach arias from Cantata No. 6 with flute obligato and the St. John Passion with bassoon obligato, Hindimeth bassoon Sonete and Doppler Nocturne, a romantic pot-boiler—all whipped cream and low drama—fun to play and fun to listen to.

Tickets—$3 donation, $1 student price—are available at the schools, 171 Broadmead, the University Store, or at the door. The audience is invited to a wine and cheese reception at the Maclean House on campus following the performance.

JOINT CONCERT...

PHS and University. Singers from Princeton High School and Princeton University will join in a concert to be given next Wednesday, April 30, at 8:30 in Alexander Hall. The concert is free and the public is invited to attend.

The Princeton University Freshman Singers and the Princeton High School Choir will be featured in a program of works by Brahms and Mozart. The program will open with the motet, "Warum ist das Licht gegeben," Opus 74, No. 1 by Brahms, sung by the Freshman Singers. The Princeton High School Choir will then sing selections from the Neue Liebeslieder Walzer of Brahms, accompanied by student pianists who are also members of the Choir. They are Robert Haus, Kathy Hilst, Phil LaBar and Robert Mills.

The Mozart Requiem will be the feature of the evening, and the two groups will combine for its presentation. A full orchestra will accompany the work. Soloists will be Judy Feder, '78, soprano; Robin Morrison, '78 alto; Lester Erich, graduate student at Westminster Choir College, tenor; William Lewis Johnson, '78, bass and Dan Clohessey, Princeton High School senior, bass.

William R. Trego is the director of both singing groups.

REPETITION OFFERED

By DaCapo Chamber Players. The Da Capo Chamber Players will be presented by the Princeton University Music Department in a concert of contemporary music on Saturday, May 3 at 8:30 in Woolworth Center.

Recent winners of the Walter W. Naumburg Foundation's Chamber Music Award, the group chose its name because of its conviction that the opportunity to hear a work twice on the same program—especially a new piece—provides a more penetrating listening ex-

Marlboro Brings End to Chamber Music Series; Funds Lacking for Its Continuation Next Year

To conclude this season's unsooally diversified Department of Music Chamber Series, a small group from Marlboro presented two trios by Mozart and Beethoven at McCosh 10 last Wednesday evening. Lucy Chapman, violin, Bruno Giuranna, viola, and Paul Tobias, cello, played Mozart's Divertimento in E flat major, K 563, and Paul Dunkel, flute, replaced the cellist for Beethoven's Serenade in D major, Op. 25.

While the Marlboro groups--the "backbone" of the Chamber Concerts--can always be counted on to bring in a number of uncommon ensembles, this year's series was particularly gratifying with the further inclusion of two contemporary groups (the Light Fantastic Players and the Pro Arte Quartet) and the Indian sarod player, Ustad Ali Akbar Khan. The Marlboro line-up brought a divertimento for strings and horns, string quintets and trios, piano quartets and trios, a trio for piano, violin, and English Horn, and one for violin, viola, and flute.

Unfortunately this series will not be offered next year because there are no funds available for it (Two Music from Marlboro concerts will still be presented, under the auspices of the Princeton University Concerts).

Mozart. Despite the size of the ensemble, Mozart's Divertimento is no small work. The composer achieved the illusion of a larger combination by allowing each instrument (not just the violin) to take a solo role at different times, by using each instrument in separate ranges with distinct characteristics (such as the cello's bass, contrasted with its own treble regions), and less frequently, by resorting to the use of multiple stops.

The players were sensitive to their changing roles in different parts of the piece, and they assumed or relinquished the solo, ornamental, and accompanimental tasks very flexibly. The variations movement in particular was a veritable catalog of imaginative textures for three strings, and the subtle and skillful scoring was clearly apparent in this carefully interpreted performance.

At a number of places the writing was dense, but the playing was sharp. The tonal blend was harmonious when the ranges overlapped, and expansive when they spread out. Details such as starting a bowed low C on the cello with a pizzicato attack for added incisiveness, or varying the dynamics of a thrice-repeated minuet for variety, contributed further to the freshness of the performance.

Paul Tobias was especially pleasant to watch as well as to hear, totally at ease with his part and visibly relishing the music.

Beethoven. The Beethoven Trio is in one sense even more restricted than the Mozart, since it has no true bass instrument. On the other hand, the inclusion of the flute adds a heterogeneous timbre, again suggesting the presence of a larger ensemble than is actually present. Now the flute dominates, and now the violin; once or twice Beethoven even indulges in the extravagance of doubling two of his three instruments on a single line. The viola gets a number of solos, putting the violin in the unusual role of "bass" instrument.

The performance was every bit as solid as the Mozart, and in some ways a greater technical accomplishment. There were rapid syn-copations and quickly transferring lines, most frequently in the last movement, which had a really "unbuttoned" flavor. The third movement (allegro molto) was extremely dramatic and intense, and the andante theme in the next movement--strings only with multiple stops--had superb intonation.

Paul Dunkel's shaping of phrases was outstanding, and Bruno Giuranna played the cantabile sections of both pieces excellently. Lucy Chapman generally had a clear, agreeable tone, with only a couple of minor intonation problems in softer sections, but she had a particularly fine musical sense, which was an asset to the entire concert.

perience. This repeated hearing will be given Milton Babbitt's "Arie Da Capo," commissioned by the group in 1974. The program will also include Alban Berg's "Four Pieces" for Clarinet and Piano, Mario Davidovsky's "Chacona," Joan Tower's "Breakfast Rhythms" and Peter Westergaard's "Quartet" for Violin, Vibraphone, clarinet and Cello. All works will be heard in Princeton for the first time.

The Da Capo Chamber Players—Patricia Spencer, flute; Joel Lester, violin; Allen Blustine, clarinet; Helen Harbison, cello; and Joan Tower, piano—have previously appeared on the Chamber Music Series in Princeton and have a three-concert series in New York this season. Their concerts throughout the east have consistently drawn high critical acclaim. Members of the group are on the faculties of Bard, Wagner and City Colleges and are active performers on the New York concert scene.

Tickets to the concert are available at the Concert Office, Woolworth Center (452-4239) or at the door at $3—students $1.

ALL-BEETHOVEN

Student Concert Saturday. Three Princeton University students will give an all-Beethoven concert on Saturday at 8:30 in the Woolworth Center, sponsored by the Friends of Music.

Robert Taub, a sophomore, gave a recital at Woolworth Center last month to a standing-room only audience. He has won numerous competitions and has given a number of recitals. He is currently studying with Jacob Lateiner of Joilliard.

David Zuckerman, a sophomore, is a first clarinetist of the Princeton University Orchestra and has appeared in a number of recitals and as concerto soloist. He is studying with Richard Joiner, first clarinetist with the Denver Symphony.

Eric Won, a junior at Princeton, is cellist and violist in the Princeton University Orchestra and has performed in a number of recitals. He studied with Gabor Magyar, formerly of the Hungarian Quintet and Beverly Lebec, first cellist with the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra.

Woolworth Center on Sunday at 3. Ms. Fulmer will be accompanied by Rick Merritt, a senior at Princeton, and the program will include works by Schumann, Dallapiccola, Faure and Debussy.

Ms. Fulmer graduated from Princeton last year and is currently a student at the New England Conservatory. While at Princeton, Ms. Fulmer appeared on numerous occasions as soloist. She performed regularly with Musica Alta, a group devoted to the music of the Renaissance, and was a member of the Glee Club and the University Opera Theatre. She also sang the alto arias in the St. Matthew Passion performed by the Glee Club last weekend.

Ms. Fulmer's concert is free and open to the public.

CHAMBER MUSIC SUNDAY

At Lawrenceville. The Music Department of the Lawrenceville School will present the Ars Nova Chamber Orchestra, conducted by Matteo Giammarino, Sunday afternoon, at 4 in the Rotunda of the John Dixon Library on the school campus.

The program will include "Suite Caricio" by Dan Rhone, the "Serenade in E Major" by Dvorak and the "Concertino for Piano and Chamber Orchestra" by Walter Piston. Soloist in the last work will be John Ellis, pianist, chairman of the music department at Lawrenceville.

The Ars Nova Chamber Orchestra, in residence on the Lawrenceville campus, is composed of professional, semi-professional, and amateur musicians who perform each season throughout the Delaware Valley. Mr. Ellis has been chairman of the music department at Lawrenceville since 1967. For 15 years a member of the piano faculty of the pre-college division of the Juilliard School in New York, he also operates a music studio in Princeton in addition to his work at The Lawrenceville School. The program is open to the public without charge.

AUDITIONS SCHEDULED

By Opera Association. The Princeton Opera Association has announced auditions for its production of "Die Fledermaus" on Saturday, May 24, at 1 in the United Methodist Church.

The opera will be performed on August 21-23 and 28-30 at the Washington Crossing State Park Summer Theater. All principal and chorus parts are needed. At the same time and place there will also be auditions for the principal roles for the traditional fall production of "Hansel and Gretel." Those interested should call Virginia Bachalis at 896-0631 to arrange an audition time.

'A WORSHIP RECITAL'

On Organ at Choir College. Bristol Chapel at Westminster Choir College will be the scene of a unique musical event, "A Worship Recital," Monday at 7:30. Edwin R. Taylor, a senior at Westminster, will give this as his graduation organ recital.

Rather than resembling a traditional organ recital in format, it is designed to show how music leads and enhances the total worship experience. Included in the service will be several organ selections, readings from scripture, congregational hymn-singing, and anthems sung by a choir of students from the college.

Mr. Taylor has been organist and choir director in several area churches since he came to Westminster in 1970, including Princeton, Middlesex, Bound Brook and Flemington. Last year, as a member of the Church Music Department at the college, he elected to take an internship as Organist of the Second Presbyterian Church of Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Now in his final year of study, he continues to study with Dr. George Markey.

EVENSONG ON SUNDAY

At All-Saints' Church. Another program in the Trinity-All Saints' Series of Concerts and Musical Services will be presented Sunday in All Saints' Church at 8 p.m.

The All Saints' Choir will sing Evensong using music of William Byrd and the contemporary English composers Herbert Howells and Kenneth Leighton. Also included in the program will be Benjamin Britten's "Rejoice in the Lamb." Soloists will be Sharon Alexander, a member of the Philadelphia Musical Theater who appeared recently in Princeton University's production of Britten's "Rape of Lucretia;" Lois Lavery, a faculty member at Westminster Choir College; John McLain, Daniel Cholossey, and Thomas Purviance. The Rev. A. O. Swartzentruber, Rector of All Saints', will be the officiant and David Agler the conductor.

At 7:40 p.m. Nancianne Parrella, will give an organ recital. In addition to her teaching duties at Princeton High School, Mrs. Parrella is a frequent recitalist in New York City and played an important part in the series of Bach cantatas given each Sunday afternoon in St. Peter's Church, New York City. This summer she will once again be the accompanist for the Robert Shaw choral performances at Westminster Choir College.

CONCERT FRIDAY

Choral Works Programmed. The Westminster Choir will present a free public concert in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster Campus on Friday at 8. Included in the program are three major choral works of the 20th century: "Rejoice in The Lamb" by Benjamin Britten; "Psalm 90" by Charles Ives, and the "Requiem" of Gabriel Faure. The conductor for the program is Joseph Flummerfelt, Director of Choral Activities, and the accompanist is organist Philip Mauve.

The Faure Requiem was performed by the Choir at last summer's Festival of Two Worlds at Spoleto, Italy. Soloists are Helene Schneiderman, soprano; Jeffrey Kohlman, bass; and Barry Gible, bass.

Charles Ives' Psalm 90 is generally acknowledged to be one of the choral masterpieces of the 20th century, and considered by Ives himself to represent his best effort. The Westminster Choir chose this work as the closing work for the recent concert at the convention of the American Choral Directors Association in St. Louis, Missouri.

The soloists for the Psalm 90 are Harriet McCleary, soprano; Linda Pecon, alto; Lester Erich, tenor; and Michael Noland, bass.

Admission to the concert is free, but reservations are encouraged. The telephone number is 921-7100.

RECITALS FRIDAY

Serkin Student to Perform. Aglaia Koras, 18, a student of Rudolf Serkin and Mieczyslaw Horszowski at the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, will be the guest artist at the sixth National Keyboard Arts Associates Student Recital Friday evening at 7:41 Alexander Road. Two recitals, at 7:15 and 8:15, are open to the public, with no admission charge.

Aglaia, a native of California, appeared as soloist at the age of 11 with the San Francisco Symphony. Major competitions which she has won include the National American Music Scholarship Association Piano Competition and the International Chopin Young Pianists Competition.

"STRING THING" SET

For Young Violinists. More than 150 violinists, viola-ists and cellists, ages 6 to 12, from Princeton, Flemington, Hightstown and Trenton will gather Saturday afternoon at 2 for a "String Thing" at Princeton Day School.

All players will be divided into small groups of equal ability. Later, they will join together for an hour of playing as massed strings. Louise Topp is music instructor at PDS and director of the event.

FOR ALL THE ARTS: With the completion of this comfortable and lovely room The Loft Gallery Center For The Arts has quadrupled its size and created a place large enough to combine the performing arts with the visual.

IT'S NEW To Us

LOFT GALLERY EXPANDS

New Room Added. A dark second story hay loft with brick walls and an uneven floor hardly seems a likely spot for displaying works of art. Yet when Conrad Newman wanted to enlarge his gallery, he chose just such a place for creating the "most beautiful room he could imagine."

The design and much of the renovation was executed by Mr. Newman, and the result is spectacular. The brick and stucco walls, parquet teak wood flooring and bright skylights create a natural art environment suitable to all the arts.

Although the display area of The Loft Gallery Center for the Arts has been quadrupled, the main purpose of the new room is "to allow for new concepts in combining the performing arts with the visual ones." The first such affair was a Beaux Arts Dance which officially opened the new addition on April 12.

This versatile room is also being used for art classes, and the future will hopefully see mini-concerts, lectures and demonstrations. However, above all else the Loft Gallery hopes people will view it as a place to visit. It is a warm, comfortable room — just right

Mr. Newman would like to see the community and all the arts integrated, and in working towards this goal, May has been designated children's month. There will be an exhibit of art by the Camelot Nursery School and on May 10 at 10:30 a.m., O.T. Zappo will give a concert. Mr. Zappo, a wandering troubadour, who has appeared on several TV shows, uses a guitar, songs and puppets to involve his audience. Tickets are $1.50 and can be purchased at the door.

On display in this room will be a continuing show of area artists, representing a variety of styles from the classical to the abstract. Regular monthly shows by guest artists will continue in the gallery's smaller fine art room (currently on exhibit are works by Pat Lafferty and Jim Edwards).

The crafts room is also unchanged, and here you will find custom designed frame moldings, pottery, and a selection of small imported gifts many of which are perfect for children.

The Loft Gallery Center For The Arts, 306 Alexander Street, is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., evenings by appointment.

NOW AT R.F.D.

A Variety of Spring Clothes. Tucked away in an 18th century Kingston home is a store with a small but constantly changing selection of clothes and gifts. Frederick Scudder, the F part of R.F.D. Ltd., is one of those fortunate people able to buy what he likes, and his choices are well worth the short drive.

For spring he has a series of heavy cotton wrap skirts in three lengths. You can choose a short mini white one appliqued with a tennis racket or a long green appliqued with large yellow, pink and lavender flowers. There are also skirts for the horse fan, golfer and sailor—the latter being appliqued with a tiny sailboat on top of a huge wave, $26 to $36.

We particularly liked the long chiffon dress by Maeko with its own attached cape. In a multi-colored watered print of green, blue and purple it looks like an impressionistic painting. The same dress has been ordered in pastels and several huge prints, and they are all extremely well priced at $56.

Another pretty, long dress is a simple solid gold sleeveless one with a sheer chiffon long-sleeved coat in soft tones of gold and white, $128.

Daytime dresses include a coral (or mint) long-sleeved one with two roomy pockets, a belt and matching scarf; or an oatmeal dress and jacket with green top-stitching and sleeveless ribbed turtle-neck top.

Most impressive were the well tailored three-piece suits in navy, mint or coffee. Each color has a different blazer with a matching skirt and slacks, $99, and just right for setting off the solid tones of these suits are the art deco blouses of Henry Ford or bicylists, $18.

Victorian Necklaces. When planning a wardrobe the accessories are probably the most fun, and R.F.D. Ltd. has some wonderful Victorian crystal necklaces that change with light and dress you see them in. There is a short jet black chain, a medium length one of tapered amber beads from Czechoslovakia, a long one of clear crystal and another is short with lavender and frosted beads by Lalique, $52 to $74.

There is also a choice of scarves at $7; reproduction American Indian jewelry; a Columbian wool shawl (blue, black, brown or tan) trimmed with wide macrame fringe, $40, and an authentic Nantucket basket purse at $350.

Mr. Scudder keeps his shop stocked with gift items such as quilted pillow kits, Williamsburg reproduction brass candlesticks, and handsome books. Currently of interest is the paperback, "Bicentennial City: Walking Tours of Philadelphia."

There are also selected antiques including a mahogany table with a set-in leather backgammon board bordered by glass panels, $250; and newly opened is a small upstairs gallery room which this month is featuring the Maine watercolors of Eliot Pierson Beveridge.

R.F.D. Ltd., located at 77 Main Street in Kingston, is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 to 5 and Sundays from 1 to 5.

YES* CASH Plus

Become a YES* CASH PLUS customer at First National Bank and get over-the-phone service on your loan needs, free executive benefits, and a personal representative at the bank.

YES* CASH

Introduced two years ago, the YES* (Your Extra Source) Cash Program allowed:

- A Personal Line of Credit — smaller loans are handled through your own checkbook, quickly and in privacy, and overdraft protection is automatically provided
- Free Checking — no check charge, no service charge, no minimum balance
- An optional American Express Executive Money Card — a $2,000 line of credit and other benefits

YES* CASH Plus

- Now, YES* CASH PLUS brings those who qualify all this plus extended services, including a personal banker to handle the entire program. A privilege card with Archie Lummis's direct-line phone number gives YES* CASH PLUS customers simplified personal services.
- Over-the-phone approval of larger borrowing needs. No need for lengthy visits to the bank — as your banker, Mr. Lummis knows you personally. He'll call you when your loan is arranged and your check is ready.
- Executive benefits: Bank traveler's checks, cashier's checks, certified checks, money orders, stop-payment orders, and the services of a notary public — all free of service charges!

Stop in and talk to Archie Lummis about YES* CASH PLUS, another first from Princeton's First National Bank.

FIVE SHADOWS AND A LINE by Robert Vickrey portrays the glowing light and subtle textures that prompted New York Times critic John Canaday to call him "the world's most proficient craftsman in egg tempera painting." Mr. Vickrey's work will be exhibited at Squibb Gallery April 28 - May 23.

ART
In Princeton

REALISM IN PAINTINGS
 On View at Squibb. Squibb Gallery will exhibit the realistic paintings of Robert Vickrey April 28-May 23, through the courtesy of Midtown Galleries in New York City.

Vickrey is a modern artist who works, in his own personal and unconventional way, in a medium that reached its zenith of popularity more than 500 years ago in the paintings of Giotto and Botticelli. The medium enables an artist to be as detailed as he wishes in his paintings, but is not without difficulty in its execution because egg tempera dries in seconds and will crack if improperly applied.

A master at detail, he has been called "the world's most proficient craftsman in egg tempera painting" by New York Times critic John Canaday. Vickrey mixes egg yolk with dried, powdered pigment and water and layers thin coats of paint, one over the other, to create paintings with an optical luminosity which cannot be duplicated by other mediums. The colors in each layer blend visually, but not physically, because each layer is applied over a dried coat of paint. One color usually predominates in a Vickrey painting because he strives for an overall tone to unify each work.

Squibb Gallery is in the World Headquarters of E.R. Squibb & Sons on Route 206 three miles south of Princeton. Hours are 9 to 4:30, Monday through Friday.

FRIENDS PLAN TOUR
 To Washington. A three-day trip to Washington, May 13 to 15, has been announced by the Friends of The Art Museum, Princeton University, as the last of this year's series of guided art tours.

There will be free time for visits to other Washington Museums. Scheduled for the evenings are a private cruise on the Potomac and a performance at the John F. Kennedy Center of either the American Ballet Theater or "Present Laughter," a revival of the Noel Coward play starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

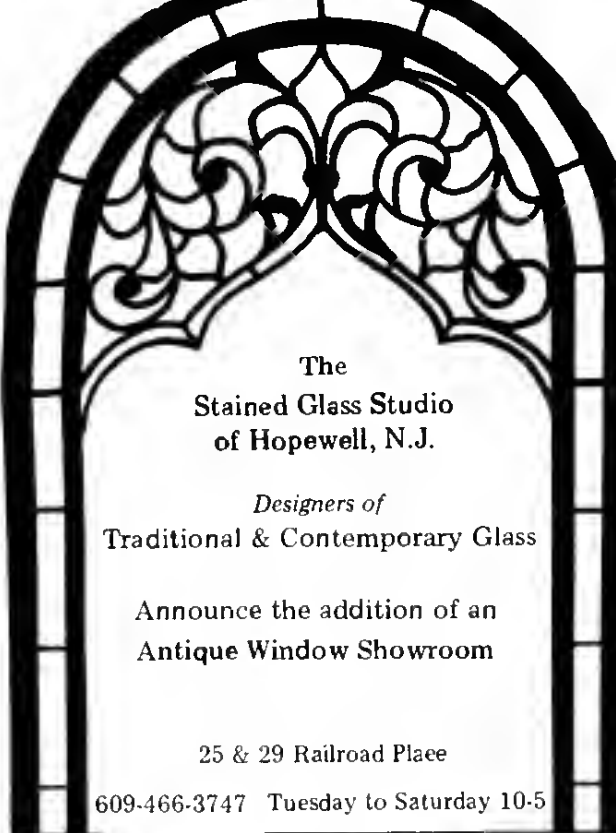

Accommodations have been reserved for the group at the Shoreham Hotel, and Mrs. G. Howland Chase will be hostess for a luncheon at the Sulgrave Club. Cost of the trip is $170, which includes all transportation, hotel, meals, cruise, theatre tickets and guide fees, and a $25 tax-deductible contribution to the Friends of The Art Museum. The tour is open to members, or to non-members who pay an additional $15 membership fee.

News Of

Clubs and Organizations

"What is a 'Thorough and Efficient' education, and who decides what it is?" That is the topic of the Princeton High School PTO program on Tuesday at 8 in the PHS cafeteria after a short business meeting for the election of PTO officers for 1975.

Marion Epstein, vice-president of New Jersey State Board of Education, will speak about the proposed regulations for a "Thorough and Efficient" education. Dr. Benjamin Wright will moderate the discussion period which will follow.

Art in Princeton

Art Association in its new quarters on Rosedale Road, Robert Engelbrecht of R. M. Engelbrecht and Associates, architects, will conduct a benefit seminar and workshop series on the art of kitchen design and remodeling, beginning May 11

Mr. Engelbrecht has done kitchen design and development for companies such as Frigidaire, General Electric, Woodmode Kitchens, and American Gas Associated. He designed the Living Space Modular Research House at the Seattle World's Fair and was chairman of the 25th anniversary program for the Building Research Advisory Board of the National Academy of Science.

The first session of the series, to be held at the PAA studio, will consist of the principles of kitchen planning and site analysis. Household will be told how to identify the goals for their own kitchen and how to accomplish them, including instructions on drawing plans to scale. Slides will be used to illustrate various points. The next session will consist of a house tour of kitchens in Princeton designed by the architect.

From there the group will move weekly to the kitchen of each participating couple for on-the-spot appraisal and advice. Whether the couple has a kitchen still in the planning stage or a work area in need of rehabilitation, each kitchen will be analyzed in terms of specific remedies and generally applicable principles of design.

The benefit series will be open to ten couples at a charge of $100. Registration for the workshop will be limited, and early enrollment is suggested. Anyone wishing further information about the program or registration may call the Art Association at 921-9173.

Proteins are very important to the diet. It is a statistical truth, however, that women eat less protein food than men do. Low-protein anemia is more common in women than in men. The condition is readily corrected when the diet contains ample amounts of the complete protein supplied by milk, eggs, meat, wheat germ, and brewer's yeast. Plan to eat liver once or twice a week. Marginal anemia, a much too common complaint among people of all ages, is caused largely by an inadequate diet.

Supplement your inadequate diet with the proper vitamins. At FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon our qualified pharmacists can suggest the just perfect vitamin for your individual needs. The PHS class is highlighted for its quality teaching. The Johnstons also contrast differences in teaching attitudes between today and 60 years ago.

Here's an interesting baseball puzzler with a surprising answer...If a batted ball hit a bird in flight, and then the ball dropped into a fielder's glove without touching the ground, would it be an out?...A little-known rule says it would NOT be an out...The rule says the ball, after hitting a bird in the air, is no longer legally a fly ball. The ball would be in play even though the fielder caught it.

Here's a surprising fact...Of all the tennis players in history, which one has won the most major tournaments?...It's not any of the players you might think of first like Billie Jean King, Rod Laver, John Newcombe, Jack Kramer or Bill Tilden...The answer is Roy Emerson...Although Emerson is not usually ranked as one of the 10 greatest players of all-time, he's still won more major tournaments than any other player in the history of the game.

Here's an oddity...Although many baseball players have been able to hit four singles in one game, or four doubles, or even four homers, NOBODY has ever been able to hit four triples in any major league game in this century...Last time any big leaguer hit four triples in one game was on May 18, 1897 when Bill Joyce did it, and it hasn't happened again in all the thousands of games since then.

I bet you didn't know that you can insure yourself so you can rent a car at a nominal price while your car is being repaired as a result of an accident.

Tiger Ball Team Home This Weekend, Hoping To Move Upward in Tight Eastern League Race

Princeton's baseball team, jarred out of first place in the Eastern League Sunday by a split with Navy at Annapolis, will play its first home games in the 1975 race this weekend. Columbia will be at Clarke Field Friday at 3, with a solid Pennsylvania nine here Saturday at 1 for two seven-inning contests.

If the Tigers are unable to help themselves as thoroughly as they are capable of doing, they are at least getting all kinds of assistance from the rest of the league—so much that they are currently in first place. A series of splits in doubleheaders in which the favored team has been unable to take both games has done the trick.

Biggest surprise of all was Brown's first victory in 20 games this year, scored Sunday at Cambridge at Harvard's expense. The defeat was the Crimson's second in six games as it seeks to win an unprecedented fifth straight title. What's more, Harvard lost by 13-12, day after it had trimmed Yale, 18 to 9, so that the 21 runs it allowed in 16 innings make its pitching highly suspect.

Cornell topped Army twice but then could do no better than divide with Columbia. Army meanwhile handed Penn its second loss when it won the second game Saturday with the Quakers. With two weeks to go, six of the ten teams still have a shot at the title.

Capable of shutting out Navy in both ends of a doubleheader here last spring, the Tigers had to settle for an even break Sunday when they were guilty in the first game of costly errors which preceded a grand slam and somehow managed to score but three runs while collecting a dozen hits. After a 5-3 loss, however, they salvaged their fourth victory in five league games by trimming the midshipmen, 6 to 1.

Mark Softy, the junior who had thrown a no-hitter against Brown a week earlier, took the defeat in the opener but would have won with better support and less men left on base. He allowed only five hits, but the home run came after two misplays had helped load the bases.

The Orange and Black, meanwhile, was clobbering the ball to all parts of the diamond, but not when it counted most. Every man in the lineup hit safely at least once in the loss that continued Eddie Donovan's frustrating experiences this season.

Captain Scott McHenry pitched his best game of the year in the nightcap as Princeton took charge early, largely on the fine hitting of first baseman Kevin Plunkett. All three of his hits (in four at bats) went for extra bases as he drove in three of the six runs. On the day, he was 5 for 8 with four rbi's.

The race remains wide open as it nears the half-way point, but the Tigers were aware that nothing worse than an 11-3 mark at the finish is likely to earn at least a share of first place. After this weekend's action, they have road games left with Cornell (one) and Army (two) before Harvard comes here for a vital single game on May 9, followed by the closing doubleheader with Dartmouth on Saturday, May 10.

Earlier in the week, Princeton found out again that it can be dominated by a really good pitcher all too easily. Montclair State's Paul Mirabella, equipped with a good fast ball and good control, limited the Tigers to six hits as he beat them, 4 to 1.

Sophomore Bob Tufts was good, too, going into the top of the ninth locked in a scoreless tie. Before he could retire the next three men, however, the visitors had pushed across four runs and the lone marker Princeton posted thereafter was well short of the mark. The winning run was at the plate with two out but the batter fanned on a high, full-count pitch.

TIGERS WHIP RIDER
End Nine-Game Streak. A Princeton baseball team that was no better than 6-9 on the season trounced a Rider College nine which was hoping to win its 10th in a row and run its record to 12-4. The unexpected mismatch took place Monday on the losers' Lawrenceville diamond, the Tigers romping to a 13-1 victory.

For varying reasons ranging from injuries to a desire to rest his regulars, Eddie Donovan used a lineup stacked with reserves. A number of them took out their frustrations from watching games on the bench on Rider pitching. Jon Blodgett, who has lost his post in right field to sophomore Paul Pecka, went 4 for 6, while reserve first baseman Jim French was 3 for 6.

Mike French, a pitcher with an 0.56 earned run average and an 0-3 record going into the game, gave up a run in the first and then threw eight goose eggs. His mates got him five in the third, singles in the next four rounds and then added their final four in the eighth.

The Tigers were due at Rutgers Wednesday for a return game with the Scarlet, which beat them here earlier this month, 5-4. Following the leagues games here this weekend, they'll play at Temple next Wednesday.

LACROSSE TEAM HERE
Plays Dartmouth Saturday. Seeking a degree of consistency that has kept it from compiling a really outstanding season, Princeton's lacrosse team will play Dartmouth Saturday on Finney Field. The contest will start at 2.

The Tigers whipped Yale, 15-7, at New Haven Saturday but earlier in the week had dropped an 11-5 match to Army at West Point. The cadets broke open a close game with a second half surge, winning their first of the season at the losers' expense.

On the strength of its 15-14 triumph over Navy, the Orange and Black had been favored. Earlier in the year, it had defeated both Washington and Lee and North Carolina, only to fall unexpectedly to Hofstra.

At New Haven, Princeton quickly took charge of Yale, a team which rarely beats the Tigers in this sport. From an early 1-1 tie, the Tigers moved out to a 9-2 half-time lead and then coasted to the final eight-goal margin. Scoring was widely distributed as sophomore Dave Tickner led the offense with a goal and four assists.

Penn was on the schedule at Philadelphia for a mid-week contest. Brown will be on Finney Field next Wednesday at 3 for the team's fourth Ivy League game of the season. Going into the Penn game, Princeton was 5-3.

CREW AT HARVARD

After Penn Wins Childs Cup. One of the longest strings of defeats in Princeton athletic history moved into its second decade last weekend when Pennsylvania defeated Princeton for the Childs Cup on Lake Carnegie. It is now 10 years since the Tigers have won the trophy, oldest in college rowing history.

The Quakers never trailed in the 2,000-meter race, which was rowed in surprisingly flat conditions after the turbulent morning winds. After 500 meters, Penn was in front by half a length.

At the half-way mark, its margin was three-quarters of a boat and after extending this to a full length by 1,500 meters, it was content to maintain the margin. The free ride in the victorious shell went to a girl, Cathy Konopka serving as coxswain.

The winning time was 5:58.4, first of the season after many races on the lake to go under the six-minute mark. Princeton was clocked in 6:01.9, while Columbia was six lengths behind the Tigers.

The defeat was the first of the season for Coach Pete Sparhawk's oarsmen after victories over Rutgers, Navy and Yale. Rowing here is distinctly on the upbeat, in contrast to the situation two or three years ago, when the very future of the sport seemed in doubt for lack of capable personnel. Seven of the eight oars are being pulled by sophomores, and prior to the varsity race, the Princeton freshmen staged something of an upset when they defeated Penn by better than three lengths.

This weekend, Princeton will row on the Charles River, meeting Harvard and M.I.T. for the Compton Cup. The Crimson is the perennial favorite—its supremacy in this regatta is even longer than Penn's in the Childs Cup.

EASTERN SPRINTS HERE

Sunday, May 11. One of the nation's most colorful rowing events, the Eastern Sprint Rowing Championships will be held on Lake Carnegie on Sunday, May 11.

Trials are scheduled to start at 6:30 a.m., with the championship finals at 2.

Some 16 colleges will take part in the Sprints, which will include varsity, junior varsity and freshman entries in both heavyweight and lightweight competition.

The Sprints have been held in Worcester, Mass. since 1960, but they are no stranger to Princeton. Lake Carnegie was the site of the EARC heavyweight championships from 1957-59, and the lightweight championships were held here in 1956.

One of the reasons for returning the sprints to

Brown at Princeton

Princeton is the outstanding Albridge C. Smith rowing course, considered one of the finest in the world. It has served as the training camp of the United States men's championships team for the past two years, has been home to several regional and national championships during that period, and this June will be the site of the women's national championships.

4 GAMES IN 6 DAYS

For PHS Baseball Team. "We have an important and big week coming up. If we can't win this week then we're surely going to have a long season."

Princeton High School baseball coach Jim O'Neill rightfully sees this week as a decisive one for his Little Tigers. In his first season as coach he has watched his team lose its first five, still unable to nail down that important first win. Despite the poor start, O'Neill remains convinced that the team is "going to come around and win its share of games."

PHS will meet hard-hitting Hun School Thursday at Hun, play host to St. Anthony Friday, travel to Hightstown Monday and entertain Steinert on Tuesday. All games have a 3:45 starting time.

In its last start, PHS lost an 8-2 decision to Lawrence High (3-2). The visiting Blue and White managed only two hits, a triple by catcher Dave Seagers, who was squeezed home by a Paul Soderman bunt in the third, and a single by Eddie Volz.

PHS scored its other run after Don Seitz got on via an error (one of three committed by the Cardinals to two by PHS) stole second, advanced to third on a fly and came home on Pete Watson's sacrifice fly.

Dave Kodner pitched five innings and took the loss. He walked five. Mike Boonin pitched the sixth. PHS continued its penchant for allowing a big inning—Lawrence scored four in the fourth—and had two possible opportunities snuffed out by Lawrence double plays. Cardinal reliever Mark LaFranco also picked off two PHS leadoff runners at first.

Can't Fault Pitching. The pitching for PHS has been slow in coming. But O'Neill was quick to say that he couldn't fault his mound staff. "They're really pitching out of guts," he said. Most of the staff hasn't pitched before, explained O'Neill, and it is a new experience for them. He knew at the outset pitching would be a big question mark.

What he does fault is the team's hitting. The Little Tigers have been outscored 40 to 6, and have left 25 to 30 men on base in their first five starts. "It's just a crime that we can't come up with some decent hits," said O'Neill.

"The defense is starting to look better but we've got to get back in the game with our bats. It isn't for any lack of desire or want," he continued. "The kids are disappointed, too. And I don't fault the kids. I take all the blame for us not winning this year. Maybe I expected too much. It's been tough to get started. We need a win. In the four years these kids have been at the high school, they've never been on a winning team."

"They're conditioned to losing once they get behind. They don't have the confidence that they can come back and win. Once we win a game or two we'll be all right. I think we'll upset some teams that might regard us too lightly."

No one has suffered more over the poor start than O'Neill, who purchased a pitching machine with his own money so the team could spend more time practicing its batting.

"It's easy to say you're going to take them one at a time when you're winning," he reflected. Saying that maybe he and the team were guilty of looking ahead to the whole season, he added: "We're going to forget about the season and just take them one at a time."

HUN NINE WINS TWO

Record Now 4-1. With Tom Dunn and Boh Mendelson supplying the power and Ernie Barbiero the pitching, the Hun School baseball team defeated Princeton Day School, 11-2, Friday and Friends Central, 12-4, earlier, to raise its record to 4-1.

Against PDS, Mendelson connected for a homer, double and single in three at-bats, driving in two runs, while Dunn also had three hits including a triple. He was thrown out trying to stretch it to a home run.

Barbiero, who got credit for both wins, his second and third win, is just as effective at the plate. He had a triple against PDS and went 3-for-4 against Friends Central, including another triple and two runs batted in. Ernie is batting .421. Dunn and Mendelson both a sizzling .500. All three are juniors.

"These three are carrying the team right now," said coach Bill McQuade. "The biggest question mark right now is, do I have anybody else who can throw the ball consistently the rest of the season."

He won't have long to find out. Hun will play five games in the next week, opposing Princeton High Thursday at home at 3:45, Lawrenceville Saturday, Pennsylvania School for the Deaf Monday and Academy of New Church Wednesday. This Wednesday it was scheduled to entertain Perkiomen at 2:30 in a Penn-Jersey League contest.

Against rival PDS, Hun put

Softball Dates Changed.

The Princeton Softball Tournament, originally scheduled for May 3-4 at Community Park, has been rescheduled for May 17 and 18. Sixteen teams will compete in the double elimination tournament, the first time such an event has been held in Princeton. All adult softball teams in the area are invited to enter. Those interested should call Jim Pirone at 921-8424.

the game out of reach with five runs in the last inning. It lead 4-0 after three. McQuade called it Hun's best game of the season, adding "In spurts we looked like a great team." Against Friends Central, Hun battled on even terms for four innings. It broke it open in the fifth with four runs and iced it in the sixth with six more. In five games, Hun has ripped the opposing pitchers for 64 runs while allowing 28.

PHS TRIUMPHS, 7-2

In Tennis Over PDS. Playing an expanded six singles matches and three doubles, the Princeton High School tennis team won its first of the season last week when it defeated Princeton Day School, 7-2.

Victors in the number one through number six singles, which the Little Tigers swept, were Dan Aronovic, Andre Eichenberger, Dan Schulman, Allen Aronovic, Steve Ebersole and David Bowen. Each won in straight sets with the exception of Dan Aronovic, who lost his first set to the Panthers' number one player, Keith Usiskin. Eichenberger defeated Simeon Hutner.

In the number one doubles, Princeton High's Jeff Steinberg and Hugo Walter won but coach Bill Humes' squad dropped the other two. The losers were Dan Amarel-Wayne Arden and Louis Snijders and Mike Lowe, the latter a pair of sophomores and newcomers to the school.

The win was a satisfying comeback for PHS following an opening 5-0 defeat by Christian Brothers. "We have a good team, Christian Brothers was just overpowering," commented Humes. He also noted that Panther coach Bud Tibbals, rebuilding, played mostly freshman and sophomores. "They're going to be good," he said.

PHS has a makeup game at Trenton Tuesday and will be at Ewing Wednesday. This Wednesday, it was scheduled to play host to Notre Dame.

PHS STICKMEN 2-2

Await Lawrenceville. A 4-1 victory over Clifton last week, helped along by two goals from Morgan Morhman, his first of the season, enabled the Princeton High School lacrosse team to even its record at 2-2.

"It's nice to get back to .500," agreed PHS coach Bill Cirullo, "and we're looking forward to going above it. I think we can do it if the kids stay alert."

Coming up for Cirullo and the Little Tigers is one of the big ones on the schedule, a 3:45 meeting Monday with Lawrenceville, the defending state champion. The game will be played at Lawrenceville.

This Wednesday afternoon, PHS was scheduled to oppose Princeton Day School at 3:30 at PDS.

Last Year, PHS managed to stay with the powerful Larries for the first period before losing, 10-3. This year? Well, Lawrenceville is a little down from last year's heights, in the opinion of Cirullo, who noted they lost 17 through graduation. "I think it will be a good contest between us," he predicted.

The PHS defense, one which limited the opposition to 61 goals in 13 games last year while the offense was scoring 95, had a hand in the victory over Clifton. Cirullo singled out the play of goalie Steve Tomlinson, who had 13 saves and would have had a shutout except for Clifton's lone fast-break goal, and Craig Rendall who had a "fine, aggressive game on defense."

PHS led 1-0 at the half on a goal by its top scorer, Alex Kinnan. Mohrman scored his first in the third period and Alex Wert made it 3-0. Mohrman then scored again against the home team, which, Cirullo reported, had trouble handling the ball.

Again, PHS suffered a costly injury. Kinnan had to leave the game when he was checked from behind by a Clifton player who landed on his leg, twisting Kinnan's ankle. He'll be lost for one or two games.

He was the second starter hurt in the last two games for PHS (Kevin Syberg suffered two cracked ribs and a partially collapsed lung against Peddie). "We're down in numbers; this is where the old conditioning pays off," observed Cirullo, who reports he has trouble fielding two midfielders.

His problems with quantity notwithstanding, Cirullo still has faith in the quality of his team. "I think we have the personnel to do it," he said.

PDS STICKMEN SPLIT

At Peddie Friday. A lot of mental errors, a wet field, a 45-minute late start, having to play catch-up half, never being "pushed" before to play as well as they could -- coach Chuck Simpson compiled a mental list of 21 reasons why his Princeton Day School lacrosse team suffered its first loss in five games last week, losing 13-5 Friday to Clark High School. Earlier, the Panthers had enjoyed reverse fortunes, thrashing Blair Academy 15-3 for their fourth consecutive B division triumph.

One bright spot in the Clark debacle was the three unassisted goals by freshman Rob Olson. At 6-1, 185, Olson has the physical equipment to be a fantastic player, predicted Simpson. Those plus two goals against Blair -- his first two of the season -- gave Olson, the younger brother of goalie Rick Olson, five in the past two games. "A good week for a freshman anytime," commented Simpson.

Ahead, no respite for the Panthers. In fact, the competition is designed to reveal just how good the PDS team really is. Friday, PDS will take on always-tough Peddie in Hightstown, Wednesday it was scheduled to entertain rival Princeton High at 3:30. "We'll be playing above our heads," Simpson acknowledged, "but if we don't do that, what's the point of this game? It's good for us."

Off comparative scores, Simpson figured the Clark game would be fairly even but when the referees were 45 minutes late in arriving, that should have been premonition that this wasn't going to be the Panthers' day. It wasn't.

The home team built an early lead and expanded on it. "They got the momentum up and we never did. We made mental errors all over the place and by the third quarter, we were really down."

Other Sports on Page 21

Gordon, O'Conner 4 Goals. As for the Blair game, it was all PDS. Co-captain Dick Gordon and Dave O'Conner each scored four times, Billy Erdman three and Olson two as the Panthers led 15-0 after three periods. Jack Bonini and Tom Moore added single goals. Rick Olson, who wasn't challenged much in the goal, had seven saves.

Simpson observed that his players had so much time to shoot that the officials did not issue a single assist in the game. It was too easy, said Simpson. It turned out to be the worst preparation the Panthers could have had for the Clark contest.

TICKETS AVAILABLE For Steeler-Giant Game. Because of an anticipated heavy demand, tickets for the annual New Jersey Jaycee Football classic, which this year will pit the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers against the New York Giants, are now on sale at $6 and $12. They can be obtained from any of the 200 Jaycee chapters throughout the state or through the Jaycee Football Classic Ticket Office, P.O. Box 1975, Hightstown, 08520 or at all Ticketron outlets. For ticket information call 800-792-8653 (toll free from New Jersey) or 609-443-3344.

The game will be held in Palmer Stadium on August 30. The contest is expected to draw a sell-out crowd of more than 45,000 since it will be the only time in 1975 that the Steelers will play in either the New York or Philadelphia areas.

The Jaycees have raised more than $2 million for distribution to charities in the 13 years they have sponsored the classic.
